Executive Proclamation State of South Dakota Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, The State of South Dakota is recognized to be the most agricultural State in the Union and the economic health of agriculture is closely linked to our overall economic prosperity; and,

WHEREAS, Agriculture is currently in the worst economic slump in many years because of a variety of circumstances including scarce credit, high interest rates, falling land and equipment values and low prices, that are beyond the control of individual farmers and ranchers; and,

WHEREAS, Rising debt and declining asset values have resulted in a loss of almost $3 billion in South Dakota farm and ranch equity during recent years; and,

WHEREAS, The nation's farmers and ranchers have not shared in the benefits of the current recovery, which has assisted other segments of the economy; and,

WHEREAS, The effects of the present agricultural depression have already had a serious impact on lending institutions, schools, churches, and rural business communities; and,

WHEREAS, A return to prosperity in agriculture is vital to the renewed economic health of the State of South Dakota and a continuation of economic growth nationwide; and,

WHEREAS, Administrative and Congressional action to reduce budget deficits and establish an effective national food and farm policy is essential to the restoration of a sound agricultural economy; and

WHEREAS, It is important for all South Dakotans to demonstrate their support for necessary action to provide for a return to profitability in agriculture:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM J. JANKLOW, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim February 12, 1985, as
